

Harding University Alumni – Advanced Degrees – Job Placement

Advanced degrees in specific licensure areas allow a teacher to move into a specialist or administrative role within their school district. However, many graduate level students choose to complete advanced degrees to extend their skills as a classroom teacher, for upward mobility on the pay scale, or to position themselves as a teacher leader without seeking employment for the specific role for which they are trained. Trend information for the last three years (Fall 2019 – Fall 2021) from 1- and 3- year alumni surveys illustrates this trajectory.

Educational Leadership: $n=35$

68.57% Administrative Position

31.43% Other

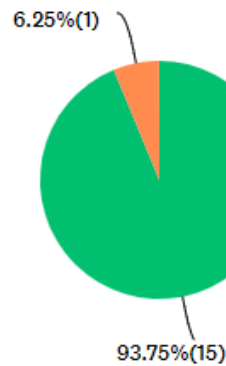

Reading Specialist: $n = 16$

93.75% Teacher

0% Literacy Specialist

6.25% Other

Special Education Licensure (endorsement): $n = 6$

100% Teacher

0% Special Education Coordinator

0% Other

